Film Site Map

Welcome to Shreveport-Bossier's Film Trail. In the last few years, we have experienced Hollywood right here in our own backyard. You never know, when you stop by a café, just who you are going to run into Kevin Costner, Katie Holmes, Denzel Washington or Diane Keaton, just to name a few. Our cities have become the filming destination for some of the biggest names in the industry.

Please take this brochure and the self-directed tour of the Film Trail for location shots in our community. The brochure features locations where major movies were filmed by your favorite movie stars. The signs will describe the locations. So whether you walk the trail or drive to the various sites, you will enjoy the Film Trail.

By the way, if you see any large white trailers, or small yellow signs around town you can be sure that a movie is being filmed nearby. So, make sure you have your camera, because you never know just who you may run into.

Beyond a Reasonable Doubt (2009)

High profile lawyer, Martin Hunter (Michael Douglas) has an impeccable record putting criminals behind bars and is a shoo-in for governor in the upcoming election. But when ambitious rookie journalist, C.J. Nicholas (Jesse Metcalfe) begins investigating Hunter for tampering with evidence to secure his convictions, the district attorney's perfect record is up for scrutiny. Commencing a risky game of cat and mouse with Hunter, C.J. frames himself as a murder suspect to catch the corrupt D.A. in the act. Romantically involved with C.J., but unaware of his assignment, assistant District Attorney, Ella Crystal (Amber Tamblyn) becomes caught between her boss's political ambitions and C.J.'s dangerous expose.

Cleaner (2007)

Single father and former cop Tom Carver (Samuel L. Jackson) has an unusual vocation - he cleans up crime scenes. But when he's called in to sterilize a wealthy suburban residence after a brutal shooting, Carver is shocked to learn he may have unknowingly erased crucial evidence, entangling himself in a dirty criminal cover up. Cleaner is a dark, gritty crime thriller that proves cleaning up is the dirtiest job there is.

Factory Girl (2006)

A waif-like rich girl, Edie Sedgwick, (Sienna Miller) found favor with the celebrity media in the 1960s through her association with pop artist, Andy Warhol (Guy Pearce). The pair of them form the core of a bunch of self-indulgent, unfettered sixties socialites that cling to Warhol, as he holds court at his studio (known as the factory) as they live lives of excess and denial. Sedgwick's family is shown in a horrible light and Warhol is portrayed as an immature, narcissistic leech, constantly looking for rich people to exploit. Christensen plays folk singer, Billy Quinn, a fictional character rumored to be taking the place of Bob Dylan, who apparently had a relationship with Sedgwick.

True Blood (TV Series)

Alan Ball, creator of Six Feet Under, has created a sexy, scary drama that delves into the meticulously-crafted world of novelist Charlaine Harris. Since a Japanese scientist's invention of synthetic blood, vampires have progressed from legendary monsters to fellow citizens overnight. And while humans have been safely removed from the menu, many people remain apprehensive about vampires living amongst them in Louisiana.

Corner of Caddo St. and Douglas St., Shreveport

A local barmaid, Sookie Stackhouse (Anna Paquin) understands what it's like to be an outcast. Cursed with the ability to listen in on people's thoughts, she's also open-minded about the integration of vampires. She is especially intrigued by Bill (Stephen Moyer), a handsome 173-year-old living up the road. But as Sookie is drawn into a series of mysteries surrounding Bill's arrival in Bon Temps, that tolerance will be put to the test.

The Guardian (2006)

The US Coast Guard's version of "Top Gun" with a little "An Officer and A Gentleman" thrown in: features an aging USCG rescue swimmer, Ben Randall (Kevin Costner), whose team member is killed in a horrific rescue mission. Immediately prior to this terrible event, his wife (Sela Ward) also announced that she was leaving him. His first love would always be the rescue mission. This leaves him an emotional wreck. His commander gives him a choice- quit or take a position as an instructor at the USCG training facility in Louisiana. Reluctantly he takes the position. Here he meets Jake Fischer (Ashton Kutcher), a young man with unlimited potential, but with a secret that seems to hold him back as a team player. Delving into his past, links are found that make him a psychic twin to the older man. Thrown into the midst of the story is a romance with Emily Thomas (Melissa Sagemiller), a local girl. Rescue missions punctuate the beginning and end of the story with the training sessions the center of the film.

Harold & Kumar Escape from Guantanamo Bay (2008)

Harold Lee (John Cho) and Kumar Patel (Kal Penn) fly to Amsterdam so Harold can pursue a budding romance with his neighbor. The pair run into Vanessa (Danneel Harris), Kumar's ex-girlfriend, and her fiancée, Colton (Eric Winter) in the airport. Harold and Kumar board the plane, and mid-flight, an old woman sees Kumar lighting his new invention, a smokeless bong, and screams "terrorist!". Air marshals immediately detain both, and the plane returns to Washington, where Ron Fox (Rob Corrdry), a neurotic undersecretary of Homeland Security, sends them to the Guantanamo Bay detention camp. They escape, and decide to travel to Texas in search of Colton, with hopes that he will be able to help them through his father, who is connected with several high political officials. After being betrayed by Colton and jumping out of a plane, the pair falls through the ceiling of President George W. Bush's (James Adomian) home in Texas.

scheme to steal damaged dollar bills slated for destruction. For her team she chooses Nina (Queen Latifah), who works the dollar bill shredder, and Jackie (Katie Holmes), who takes bill carts from the Secret Service room to the shredding room. Their first robbery is a success though the take is not as big as they had hoped. However, they're emboldened to do it again and again. Once Don and Bridget pay off their debt, Don suggests they stop before they get caught. Tipped off, Bridget and her accomplices begin trying to get rid of all the loot stashed in their houses, but the cops move in before all the evidence is destroyed. Bridget escapes, but the others get caught. Bridget hires a tax attorney to defend them. The lawyer gets Bridget and all her accomplices off the hook for their crimes.

Soul Men (2008)

When R&B legend Marcus Hooks dies suddenly, VH-1 invites his original back up duo, Floyd Henderson (Bernie Mac) and Louis Hinds (Samuel L. Jackson), "The Real Deal," to appear at a memorial tribute at the Apollo Theater. Floyd, who's bored in retirement, wants this more than anything; Louis, a philosophical ex-con, does not. Plus, there's bad blood between them (Louis's wife Odetta left him to marry Floyd - then left Floyd). Floyd begs, Louis consents but won't fly, so they leave L.A. in Floyd's flashy Cadillac with five days to get to New York. On the road, they must get back their vocal chops, renew their friendship, and sort out the past. With Floyd's bad hip and Louis' bad kidneys, will they even make it?
